Lent with Maximilian Kolbe

In the picture above of St. Maximilian Kolbe we see on the right hand side two crowns. This is a reference to a vision from God that St. Maximilian had early in his life. Here is his explanation of that vision:

> “That night, I asked the Mother of God what was to become of me, a Child of Faith. Then she came to me holding two crowns, one white, the other red. She asked me if I was willing to accept either of these crowns. The white one meant that I should persevere in purity, and the red that I should become a martyr. I said that I would accept them both.”

St. Maximilian Kolbe accepted the two crowns and his self-sacrifice at Auschwitz was saintly and heroic. It was Saint John Paul II who at the canonization of St. Maximilian Kolbe in 1982 spoke in these words beginning with this quote from the Gospel of John:

> “Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.”
  (John 15:13)

“From today on, the Church desires to address as ‘Saint’ a man who was granted the grace of carrying out these word of the Redeemer in an absolutely literal manner.”

This Lent the parish has made available a small booklet of daily reflections as we walk the journey of prayer, fasting and charity. This ‘Lent with Maximilian Kolbe’ will help us prepare to celebrate the mysteries of the Triduum with a deeper sense of the love that God has for each of us. The booklet will be out on Ash Wednesday.
